

Patricia Letayf

SJRCS Graduate 2003

Patricia, who graduated from Tufts University, majored in International Relations with a minor in Economics. At Tufts, she was a member of the Sigma Iota Rho Honors Society for international relations and was actively involved with the Catholic Community at Tufts (CCT). She also coordinated BookMatch, a competitive after-school reading program for fourth and fifth graders in two elementary schools in Medford, MA. For her studies, Patricia has been able to travel to various countries in the Middle East for research with a group called the New Initiative for Middle East Peace. Her sophomore year, Patricia traveled to Israel and the West Bank, and in her junior and senior years, Patricia co-led two delegations of students—one to Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates and another to the Kurdistan Region of northern Iraq.
